

Hear well and live well

VICTORIAN HEARING

Celebrating 20 years of service, Victorian Hearing continues to provide independent, personalised hearing care from its Newtown clinic.

As an independent audiology clinic, Victorian Hearing is celebrating 20 years of excellence, delivering a full range of audiological services to people experiencing hearing loss.

Its university-trained audiologists are specialists in their field, ensuring every patient receives care of the highest calibre.

Did you know one in six Australians experience hearing loss? Hearing is fundamental to staying connected, engaged and living life to the fullest.

Victorian Hearing is passionate about raising awareness of hearing health and ensuring everyone has access to expert, independent audiological care.

This commitment to personalised care saw Victorian Hearing recognised as a finalist in three categories at last year's Geelong Business Excellence Awards.

The clinic thanks the community for the trust it has placed in the team.

As an independent, no-commission clinic, Victorian Hearing remains focused on outcomes that are right for each client, rather than being driven by sales targets.

Its commitment to supporting the Geelong community continues to grow. Based in Newtown, the experienced team of Fiona, Liz, Ashlee, Lisa and Janene is ready to welcome clients and help them take proactive steps towards better hearing health.

At Victorian Hearing, hearing well means living well, and the clinic encourages everyone to make hearing health a priority.
